

Agrico and Nedbank join forces to provide innovative funding solutions for producers

Agrico has announced an exciting partnership with Nedbank Commercial Banking, to offer you enhanced financing options for your new centre pivot irrigation system. For more than 100 years, Agrico has been faithfully serving growers all over the continent by providing them with the best technical solutions and irrigation systems. As the largest irrigation supplier in southern Africa, Agrico has a network of more than 38 branches with walk-in stores stocking an extensive range of quality and well-priced irrigation components.

Perhaps the flagship product of Agrico, is the Agrico centre pivot. The Agrico centre pivot has been continuously improved since the first machine was built in 1988. As the leading manufacturer of centre pivots in South Africa, the Agrico centre pivot offers the most advanced technology in irrigation. Paired with Agrico Web Control, your irrigation system can be optimised and remotely managed, saving tons of energy in the process.

With Agrico and Nedbank, obtaining and funding this high-tech irrigation system is easier than ever before.

Agrico and Nedbank share a deep commitment to supporting the agricultural sector as a key contributor to the South African economy. Central to this offering, is a recognition of the importance of sustainable farming practices, not only in ensuring the nation's food security but also in nurturing the long-term health of the agricultural industry.

This partnership signifies a significant step towards empowering you with the financial resources needed to optimise your farming operations.
